Men's Leaders Say Vote Overwhelmingly in Favor of Walk-out

Montreal, June 28.—Despite the offer of the Canadian National Raliways, giving increases to some 18,000 employees, a strike of these workers is imminent, according to a statement made here to-day by J. Results received to date from the strike vote taken recently were overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, it was said at the men's headquart-

Price Brothers, owners of large tracts of wooded lands in northern Quebec, and on whose lands mysterious signals, which had been associated with the disappearance of the French airmen, had been seen for the past two weeks, had discontinued their search, which they were convinced was futile, sald of Mr. Kane. The company had done all possible to trace the lights and was sonvinced the theory of an astral phenomenon advanced by scientists was the explanation of the flashing lights.

This was the first Anglican Church. It was also used as a school. The Rev. A Garrett came there on monthly and then fortnightly visits. He subsequently became rector and missionary at Namano, ultimately Bishop of Dallas. To this old log church settlers from the east side of the lake crossed in cances. There were no boats then. All carried rifles for protection and for agame met on the road. Panther, bear, wolves and deer were plentiful. There was a special place under the porch of the church to store the rifles. After service shooting at marks was indulged in.

This church was closed, and for some years afterwards was used as a school-th cluse. When the new St. Peter's Church, Quamichan was consecrated in 1877.

MANITOBA VOTING TO-DAY

MANITOBA IS CHOOSING ITS EIGHteenth Legislature to-day. Premier Bracken is leading the Government forces, Mr. H. A. Robson, K.C., the Liberals, and Lieut.-Col. C. E. Taylor the Conservatives. Before dissolution the Government Party held twenty-eight seats, the Liberals 7, Conservetives 6. Laborites 4. Independents 8. while there were two vacancies: One hundred and fifty-three candidates are bidding for the fifty-five seets which comprise the Legislature.

The principal issue of interest to the electors on this occasion is an inquiry as to how beer shall be sold under the present Liquor Act. The ballot contains three questions which read as follows: 1. Do you favor any extension of the present facilities for the sale of beer? 2. If a majority answer "Yes" to Question No. 1, which do you prefer: (a) beer by the glass; sale to be under government regulations in licensed premises without a bar; (b) beer by the botthe, sale in sealed containers by the Liquor Commission in government stores under the cash-and-carry system? 3. Are you in favor of abolishing the right of the brewers to sell beer direct to permit holders?

The prohibition forces have carried on an active compaign against any alteration in the present system -sale by the case from liquor stores or brewers by direct delivery to permit holders. Their slogan has been "Keep the Beer Room out!" Opposition forces have countered this by declaring that the proposed changes would eliminate the bootlegger. The Government, lowever, is not committed to one policy or another. When the subject of submitting a referendum to the people was under discussion, as a result of several petitions for changes, the Premier made it clear that the will of the people would have to decide the issue.

As to political questions, the Government is appealing for endorsement on its record. Those professing to be well informed on the general attitude of the people are predicting its return; they point out, on other hand, that the large number of three-cornered contests may reduce the Government's following to less than that it had in the last Legislature. Mr. Bracken's supporters gave him a majority of one over all other parties; but his position never was in any real danger because he usually was able to rely upon the assistance of Liberals and Independents.

An unusual development in the campaign was the alleged interference of political workers from Saskatchewan. Premier Bracken complained of it and The Manitoba Free Press roundly scored it and said "it might be a good time for the people of Manitoba to give these people a strong hint at the polls that Manitoba can attend to its own business." All these matters are in the hands of the voters to-day.

NOT NECESSARY

WE NOTE THAT THE CITY COUNCIL has received applications for the post of Industrial Adviser from five citizens of Victoria.

It is not necessary to appoint such an official and the Council should drop the idea. The Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau between them either have all the information that is necessary to guide the city to industrial development or they can get it easily.

It was good business to engage Mr. Roger Pinneo as an impartial adviser from the outside on a number of specific projects directly related to port activities. He has special knowledge of such matters. But he has submitted his report which, together with information already available at the Chamber of Commerce, contains useful suggestions for future action of a practical sort.

CANADIAN EMPLOYMENT

T IS PLEASING TO READ ON THE EVE of the celebrations that are to mark the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation that Canadian employment conditions show a more favorable aspect than at any other time since 1920. Advices from Ottawa indicate that on June 1 there were approximately 43,896 more workers employed than on May 1, and that statements tabulated from 6,150 firms show a total of 876,768 workers in full employment at the beginning of the month. One of the most encouraging facts disclosed is that unusually large advances for this time of year are recorded in manufacturing. In this respect British Columbia seems to have scored a victory over all the other provinces of the Dominion. Our payroll at the beginning of the month amounted to 79,297 workers registered by the 673 reporting employers, compared with 74,590 at the beginning of May. "This increase of 4,700 employees," the dispatch from Ottawa states, "was the largest noted on June 1 of any year since the record was instituted in 1920."

The figures for this Province seem strangely out of harmony with some of the speeches made recently by Conservative speakers who are trying to conv the people of British Columbia that no industrial progress is being made. Here we have in one month an increase in the payroll of reporting employers amounting to 4,700. These are official figures; they answer political propaganda fairly affectively.

DIFFICULT TO EXPLAIN

LAST SATURDAY A SPECIAL APPEAL was made to the citizens of Victoria to buy tags and help to swell the fund with which to finance this week's Diamond Jubilee celebrations. The total sum collected was a little more than four hundred dollars. Assuming that at least ten thousand persons would be down town on the busiest day of the week-a conservative estimate, to say the least—the day's return would be less than a nickel a head for one-sixth of the population of Greater Victoria.

Surely the people of Victoria are not proud of this showing. But it looks much worse in the light of the fact that last Saturday's total was less than that collected on any tag-day for many years. An appeal for funds to provide table napkins for Hottentots probably would have yielded a greater return than four hundred dollars.

It is true that many citizens have subscribed to the celebration fund through the offices of the committee; we would hazard the guess, also, that is a list of those who bought a tag on Saturday could be compiled it would be found that many of the names would appear on both.

The Committee Roped to collect $2,000 on Saturday-ten cents apiece from one-third of the population of Greater Victoria! Special appeals were made days before the time through the newspapers. And Greater Victoria gave one-fifth of the amount asked for! The celebrations to be held this week are to mark a great achievement. From ocean to ocean the people of every city, town, and hamlet are looking forward to them with unbounded delight. The chimes of the great bells in the Victory Tower at Ottawa will be heard all over the Dominion. Will Victoria have to confess that it is not sufficiently interested in these things to raise the necessary amount of money to do them properly?

VOTES SLIPPING AWAY

THE MORNING PAPER'S HEADING ON a dispatch from London obviously is intended to convey the impression to its readers that the Baldwin Government has scored a great victory in the byelection in the Brixton division of Lambeths. It says the anti-Lords cry proved a failure and that the Conservative was elected by a large majority in spite of the appeal made.

The seat was rendered vacant by the elevation of Sir Davison Dalziel to the peerage and it was considered safe for the Government Party, since it is traditionally a Conservative stronghold, the Liberals winning it in 1923 by a little more than a thousand majority when the Imperial Preference proposals were before the electorate. But a study of the figures do not reveal anything for Mr. Baldwin to gloat over. They show that a vote plurality which the Conservatives piled up in a three-cornered contest in 1924 of no less than 3,674 has been turned into an anti-Conservative vote majority on this occasion amounting to 810-a turnover of 4,484 votes.

In 1924 the Conservative polled 15,755, the Laborite 7,210, and the Liberal 4,871. At yesterday's election the Conservative, Mr. Nigel Colman of the famous family of mustard makers, polled 10,356 or 5,399 less than his predecessor—Mr. J. Adams. Labor, 6,032; and Mr. F. J. Laverock, Liberal, It will thus be seen that with a poll on this occasion of 6,314 less than in 1924 the drop in the Conservative vote is remarkable, Labor also being more than a thousand less, while the Liberal increased his

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Both the federal and provincial governments are sponsoring the deal for horses with the Russian government and the farmers and ranchers are urged to do all in their power to bring their animals in to the purchasing centres in good time. This is a wonderful opportunity for getting rid at fair prices of horses that are really of very little good and which are eating upvaluable pastures.

portunity for getting rid at lair prices of holese are really of very little good and which are eating up valuable pastures.

These animals are needed in rural Russia for small farmers, who are not able to afford our transportation, namely, the useful automobile at a small price. A horse that can do the work on a small farm and at the same time provide transportation by saddle is what is wanted. These will be largely used for breeding purpoces and a clause in the contract stipulates that fifty per cent. of the total shall be mares. For that matter the soviet republic would be glad to have them all mares if that were possible.

If this deal is successful it will lead to larger and larger purchases. Russia is bound to be a splendid customer of Canada, if good relations are once established. There is a great dearth of horses at present. In one part of Russia alone the Germans took away 250,000 breeding mares. It is likely that Russia could make a profitable deal with Germany for huying back animals, but it would appear that the republic would rather deal with Canada, even to the loss of money, as compared with a deal with its former enemy. Sentment is playing a part and the attitude of the country towards the Dominion, whose climate is much the same as its own, has a good deal to do with the present arrangements.

Farmers with horses may dismiss the idea that these might be used for military purposes.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

Sixty Years of Progress

ONTARIO AFTER SIXTY YEARS

At Confederation Ontario had a population of 1,600,000, mostly farmers. The largest urban community was Toronto which had just passed 50,000. In 1871 Hamilton had 26,716; Ottawa, 21,545; London, 15,826. In the older sections of the southern peninaula many families had come to prosperity and a few to affluence, but in the region around the shores of Lake Huron

Before Confederation the mineral production of the province was not imposing. The copper deposits of the North Shore had been worked since 1847 but nof with any marked profit. Gold had been discovered in Madoc, and the oil wells of Lambton County were producing bountifully. During the construction of the Canadian Pácific Railway in 1885 the nickel-copper ore-book of Sudbury was discovered in the early part of this Century. Last vear the mineral products of Ontario had a value of $47.583.306.

During the last session of the Legislature the Provincial Treasurer estimated the wealth of the province as follows: Value of Crown timber. 44.800.000.000. Property assessed by municipalities. $2.600.000.000; mineral wealth $2.000.000.000. The railway mileage within the province has increased from 2.000 to 11,000 miles since 1867.

Bag Blue Miss Violet Fowkes presented the second annual recital of her pupils Friday evening in Memorial Hall, the event being largely attended by an appreciative audience. There were twenty numbers on the programme, forty pupils taking part.

Kenneth Bostock, a pupil of four months' training, delighted his audience with a spirited Russian dance and later, in the second part of the programme, with an amusing performance of "Black Bottom." Another popular number was an Indian eplayde with a clever acrobatic dance by Isabelle Gibson. Maureen Grute, a favorite before local audiences, made a perfect "Moon Fairy." Miss Fowkes and her partner Jay Pogson thrilled the audience with a clever and agile adagio number. The solo toe dances by Georgina Dowdall and Elinor Brooks showed marked talent for pupils of such tender years. The programme follows:

'ROOKIES" NEW COMEDY

SHOWING AT DOMINION

Education, as well as entertainment, were the angredients mixed for the story of "Rookies," a new comedy just filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and now being shown at the Dominion Theatre. The story, a farce by Byron Morgan, author of many magazine and screen stories, was prepared with the assistance of a number of officers detailed from the regular army to the citizens' military training camps.

These officers gave technical advice to the author of the screen story, though they had nothing to do with the weaving of the comedy romance against the military background.

The screen tale completed, these same officers acted as technical advisers during the filming of the picture at the training camp at Del Monte, and at the balloon, aviation fields and studio where it was directed by Sam Wood.

FIVE VAUDEVILLE

ACTS AND PICTURES

OFFERED AT COLISEUM

The show at the Coliseum this week its another highly entertaining arrangement of pictures and vaudeville. The "Five Acts of Vaudeville" on the stage, are acts that were procured at great expense to make the show for this holiday week as near-perfect as possible. Headlining the vaudeville bill is Professor Darby, who gives a wonderful ability. Mas Wilson, clever even and will entertain the sterness credit anywhere. Peggy Lewis, Victoria's favorite, character singer, is also on the bill, and the merit of her past wonderful ability. HAROLD LLOYD BRINGS OWN FUN TO VARIETY IN "THE KID BROTHER"

Harold Lioyd's comedy for Paramount distribution, "The Kid Brother," is now showing at the Variety Theatre, and one long sequence is devoted to the joy of every youth. But mothers who attributed the climbing escapades of their youngsters to Harold Lioyd: "Safety Last" and rued the hours their laddies gave to learning the jig of "Speedy" in "The Freshman," need have no worry about the kite flying score. Ben Franklin discovered lightning with his kites and now Lloyd may be the means of saving mothers considerable work on wash days, for in this sequence he discovers a new say of drying clothes that is most interesting, enlightening and laughable.

Lloyd and his staff have worked out many laughs with the ald of a kite and a basketful of clothes that needed drying—coupling this series of gags with the very human problem of a boy in trouble.

with the very human problem or a boy in trouble.

The bespectacied comedian runs close to the lines of "Grandma's Boy," in so far as characterization goes in his newest endeavor to make the world laugh. He mingles pathos with comedy, an element that has set him in a class by himself.

The Little Breadwinner

THIS little chap of twelve, hawking papers in the midst of the city's maelstrom, his clothes in tatters, his eyes eager and shifty, his voice hoarse with shouting—can you see the tragedy of his life? He left school at ten to help earn bread for his mother and brothers.

Yet, Daddy had great hopes for him. Looking down at the wee baby face he had said: I'll give the lad a good start in life a lift on to the first rung of the ladder."

That was eleven years ago. Daddy had not counted on dying, you see. But he did die died at the wrong time before his plans had worked out. Are you willing to take a chance like that with your wife and little ones? An Imperial Monthly Income Policy will safeguard them from a danger you dare not ignore.

Another spoke was placed in the championship aspirations of the Travelers' nine when they met a 5-1 defeat at the handsoft the Sons of Canada in the Behior Amageur League ball game played last night at the Royal Athletic Park.

The Sons played good ball behind the stering pitching of the veteran Jack Curtis and on the night's play deserved to win. The samplemen had plenty of chances to stow the game away but their usual heavy artillery was silent with the result that they collected a meagre four hits off "Wes John" Curtis.

Jack Noble, who went the whole way for the Sons had rather a bad night, being touched up for ten hits, the majority of which came in bunches and when they were needed most.

Ven. G. F. Davidson Amuses Large Audience at Memorial

Before an audience that nearly filled the Memorial Hall last evening, Archdeacon G. F. Davidson, of Regina delivered a lecture, which he preferred to call a "whimsical monologue," that places him among the first rank of Canadian humorists.

Explaining at the outset that his purpose was to provide amusement for his audience, the lecturer pevertheless succeeded in introducing some pointed comments on social problems of the day. The strongest characteristic revealed by the speaker's style was a genuine love of his fellow-beings, that included men of diverse types and illustrated the influence of Christianity in calling forth the best out % human nature.

Adopting the plan of an alphabetical series, composed of familiar occupations and professions, the Archdesconkept his audience in mirth and merriment with a recital of humorous comments about the "A's" and "B's." Actors, artists, authors and archdescons provided the lecturer with much material, both serious and comic.

Many false views were current about actors and actresses, he said. He showed what the Actors' Church Union had accomplished and how it was supported.

Re your editorial, "Dead As a Dodo," anent the bestowal of titles on Canadians, to one from an older land there is something humbrously incongruous in a native-born Canadian—probably a second generation of pioneer stock, seeking a title transplanted from the Old World; adding old wine to new, as it were, though the taster knows full well that each must have its distinguishing bush.

Every returned soldier is cognizant of the social barriers that existed between officers and other ranks, to be precise; a guif that soon became abyssmal in its chilling restraint, and far beyond the requirements of discipline.

Canada in the past has not always been happy in the selection of candidates for titular honors, and the fact that one must be silent anent personalities only adds emphasis against not only the bestowal of titles but every thought that engenders such action. Presenting individuals with the freedom of a city is such, and is a poor precedent to set by any town in Canada. One leads to the other, and both are inconsistent with the very soil of Canada.

both are inconsistent with the very soil of Canada.

To form an opinion regarding the social status of ourselves one must study the history of the past. It is interesting to learn that from the advent of the Spaniards in South Americas and the English-French in the North, there has been a constant tearing down of titles and aristocratic leanings, until Canada to-day is the only country of the two Americas where this social anomally exists.

May the pioneer spirit of Confederation days survive in Canada!

Circling the house, he started into the front entrance, but stopped when he encountered young Pierce standing in the hall.

"What was that thundering racket?" asked the young man. "What was she yelling about? She was in a mighty good humor when she left me!"

Bodey smiled. "What did you say to her?"

"Why she came upstairs and started to rake me over the coals. Said I had gone out to betray her Elbert. But I've got an aunt like she is—they're like as two peas in a pod. Almost alike, any-how—my aunt doesn't paint so much. So I listened to her and looked sorrowful, and then I told her what a pretty dress she had on, and a little later I had a chance to tell her what a belle she must have been, and then all I had to do was to sit on a chair and listen. I'm sorry about one thing, though — she told me about your brother."

"He was up to some meanness, likaly," she surmised. "I wouldn't wonder—" She started, and a haggard cast came to her face. "Do you suppose that miserable loafer went there to tell the officers where Eibert is?" She moved swiftly across the floor and put herself in a defensive position before her son, as if the law already was extending its arm to seize him.
"Naw, he didn't," said the boy.
"You shut your mouth," she ordered.
"Til bet that's what he did. Til go see."

She hurried out of the door into Nadine's room, cast a spirited word or two to the girl as she passed, and shortly her voice could be heard upstairs.

"That's what I think of you and or two to the girl as she passed, and shortly her voice could be heard upstairs.

"How'd your mother find out where we were?" Bodey asked the youth.
Smith rubbed the edges of his unshapely shoes together, and regarded them with interest.

"Did you write to her?" Bodey's tone was crisp.

The boy looked out the window with studied indifference, making no reply.

"Why did you do that? You know better, didn't you?"

"Wanted some money," said the boy at last. "I wanted it so's I could get away from you."

CHAPTER XXI

"I've told you that if you want to go you can do it, haven't 1?"

Smith drew up his lip so his yellow teeth showed. "Yeah." he jeered. "And you knew derned well I daresn't go! But anyhow, I don't want to go away now."

Bodey raised his eyebrows. "Why not?"

"None of your husiness."

"Tall swhat I think of you and your cared. "Kou Jeys!

Words falled her, and she stood working her mouth convulsively. Bodey quietly stooped, picked up the scattered bills and thrust them into his pocket.

"Ma. you stop hollering or that girl'll hear you," said the boy.

"Since the door to Nadine's room was open, and the girl herself could be heard stirring within, his suggestion was clearly well-founded. Mrs. Smith turned loward the door.

"What do I care what the hussy-hear?" she cried. "I'll have her know that kind. I've worked my fingers to the bone, but I've got my pride."

Bodey shrugged his shoulders.

"When your able to quiet down, I'll talk to you," he said, resting against the back of a chair.

She had been speaking in a high, metallic shriek, but at this she abruptly dropped her voice to a conversational pitch. "What is it you want to say?"

"Certainly not. You brought him here, and you've got to get him away safe, or I'll see you get what's coming to you!"

"None of your business."
"Is it the refining influence of our young lady guest, perhaps?" The man was amused, and showed it.
"Aw, shut up!" Smith soowled, and turned himself upon the table so his back was to his companion. "You make me tired with that high-hat talk."
Bodey chuckled quietly, and changed the subject. "Did your mother bring the money you asked for?"
"Naw."

Did she say she didn't have it?"

"Did she say she didn't have it?
the man persisted.
"That's what she always says.

"I see. I see." Bodey slid from the

"He told you what?" she intersupted, sharply.

"He said you might be in need of funds." His voice was gentle and his manner was apologetic, but the sentence brought a new blaze of wrath to Mrs. Smith's eyes.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial

New York, June 28 (by R. P. Clark & Co.)—Early firmness was promoted by the sharp decrease in brokerage leans. This active demand in good part represented short covering and when this buying power had been apparently satisfied the market turned reactionary, though the market leaders received fairly good supports and this descuraged more active selling.

Overnight news was featured by another sharp increase in crude oil

Overnight news was reactive by another sharp increase in crude oil production in the Seminole Area, though the oil shares were fairly steady. A more unfavorable influence was the Righer renewal rate of 5% which was the forerunner of the sagging tendency that the market developed.

—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Pollowing the bad break early in the week in the main body of stocks settled into a narrow range. Montreal Juve 38—Noon closing letter (By Bc. Bond Corporation)—There will be no session on the Montreal Stock Exchange on Priday and Saturday, July 1 and 2.

Traders who had been encouraged by the raliying tendency showing late in the trading yesterday and in the morning period to-day were disappointed by the action of the market later in the session. The reaction in several issues is the most severe which has occurred in months, and the downward tendency apread through practically the whole list.

There was no special news developments to account for the break, the only apparent reason being the hesitation on the part of the buyers to assume commitments in the present nervous condition.

tation on the part of the buyers to assume commitments in the present nervous condition.

The most severe reaction was registered in quebec Power, which broke 15 points to 260, and closed at 262 for a 13 point loss. Shawingan Power in losing two points at 78½ caused considerable surprise in investment circles.

To-day's Mining Markets

Victoria and Vancouver markets continued dull to-day.

The only feature of the Vancouver session this morning was that sale of George Copper dropped down to 77, which is a new low for some time. George closed here without any bids in the market and the stock offered nominally at 100 in Victoria and 95, in Vancouver. Some of the big interests which have gone in behind George are understood to be forcing a shake-out and for the next few weeks will not be taking on any stock except at lower prices. Coast Copper was also down to-day, selling at 15.00.

Dunwell opened with sales at 143 in both Vancouver and Victoria. On In the Mainland, sale of a 1,500 block ran up to 145.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, June 28—To-day's weather report shows Edmonton clear, 58, calm, no rain; Regina part cloudy, 56; Moose Jaw part cloudy, 70, no rain; Saskatoon clear, hot, no rain, 70 above.

Chicago, June 28—Export sales yesterday were around 700,000 bushels, mostly Manitobas. Generally clear weather over the grain belts, also in Canada. Contract stocks here now total 785,000 bushels, compared with 719,000 bushels a year ago. Harvesting is progressing rapidly in the southwest and hedging pressure so far has been moderate. Argentine and Australian advices remain builish.

Corn—Weather is generally favorable over the belt, but nights are too cold for good growth. Cropp advices from down state are mostly pessimistic.

Chicago, June 28 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—Wheat market unsettled and within comparatively narrow range most of session. Good support was encountered on the recessions and near the close prices advanced rapidly-on reports from Springfield that the Kessinger bill was so far down on the list that it might not come up this session.

Weather in southwest continues favorable for harvest and must result in increasing movements, but receipts at interior Kansas markets smaller than expected. Weather in northwest attracting considerable attention as hot and sultry weather is expected to result-in development of rust in Spring wheat.

Make Group Insurance Universal, is Now Aim

London, June 28.—The aim of American and Canadian life insurance companies is to make group life insurance as universal as the pay cheque, William J. Graham of New York, to-day told the Eighth International Congress of Actuaries. With Sir Joseph Burn presiding, the congress opened here last night after an interval of fifteen years. The delegates were welcomed by the lod mayer of London, while the Prince of Wales, who is honorary president, sent a message expressing the hope that much benefit would accrue from the deliberations.

Mr. Graham presented statistics showing that group insurance in force in the United States and Canada had grown from $13,172,198 on December 31, 1912, to $5,600,000,000 on December 31, 1926.

A direct result of the advertising given Victoria and the whole of Canada through the medium of the touring Canadian football team is given in a letter received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from a resident of Inglewood, New Zealand. This writer, A. There is a menacing sway for aviation and all who travel by air should be unusually cautious.

Opening of Memorial Park and Christening of Drydock Arranged

Soldiers, Sailors and School Children Will Make Scenes Impressive

Esquimalt will fittingly celebrate the anniversary of the Canadian Confederation on July 1, for the opening of the Memorial Park will pay tribute to the men who died for Canada and the christening of the largest drydock in the British Empire will mark another great pace in the west country's progress, says Reeve James Erick.
